

Schedule "Training Intercultural Competences " – 19.06.2022, 9.00 - 17.45 Uhr

Shirin Betzler M.Sc. & Lena Schmeiduch M.Sc.

Topics of the training

In an increasingly globalised world, culture plays an important role in the success of a variety of interactions - in both personal and professional contexts. In order to use the potential of cultural diversity and contribute to intercultural understanding, intercultural competences are crucial. The aim of the training is to acquire knowledge about the basics of intercultural competences and to develop intercultural awareness and empathy. Various interactive and experience-based techniques and methods are used for this purpose.

Central topics of the training include cultural awareness, cultural values and attitudes, different communication styles and interactions in the context of multicultural cooperation. Using methods to develop intercultural competences in the field of intercultural communication and interaction, the training provides a basic understanding of how culture shapes our perception of time, space and groups. The training follows an interactive concept with an alternation of theoretical input and personal experiences, which also enables participants to gain their own intercultural experiences. With a view to future intercultural encounters, participants also learn about the phases of culture shock and strategies for dealing with it. In this way, the acquired knowledge can be linked to real situations of intercultural interactions and a reference to their own experiences can be made.
